NAVAL CONFERENCE NEAR FAILURE

SECURITY PROGRAM BETWEEN BRITAIN, FRANCE, DEFEATED

Washington Expects Disarmament Meet To Fail Soon

LONDON, March 31.—Political discussions between Great Britain and France, aimed at giving the latter nation sufficient security guarantees to enable her to reduce her tonnage demands, have virtually ended in failure, it was reported on good authority today.

Experts of both nations, it is understood, are now drawing up an official report admitting their inability to reach an agreement. Further "last minute" efforts are expected, but present indications are that the death-knell of the London naval conference has been sounded.

Heads of the various delegations met for fifteen minutes today, following which the American contingent held an hour's conference. Spokesmen for the American delegation refused to declare themselves hopeful that a five-power treaty would eventuate, stating merely that they were "working hard in that direction."

It was learned from Italian sources that Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald has practically issued an ultimatum that the conference must be concluded before Easter, whether a five-power or three-power pact materializes.

Heads of the delegations are to meet again Wednesday, when reports from various technical experts' committees will be considered. If a five-power treaty is found to be impossible, the question of reaching a tentative agreement on technical matters such as limitation will be discussed.

Such an agreement would become final only when the Italians and French joined in the treaty after further political discussions through diplomatic channels.

French Foreign Minister Aristide Briand is greatly annoyed over the British government's communication in which it was stated that Britain cannot make further military com-

ATTORNEYS TO END DAGUE MURDER CASE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 31.—Closing arguments by defense and prosecuting attorneys were to begin at the morning session today of the trial of W. Glenn Dague, who is charged with the murder of Corporal Brady Paul of the State Highway patrol last December 27.

If the same procedure is carried out as in the trial of Dague's companion in crime, Mrs. Irene Schrader, who is condemned to die for the Paul killing, the case will probably go to the jury tonight.

Dague, broken by the strain of six hours on the stand Saturday and wearied by Margiotti's severe cross-examination, apparently based his hope of fessing up the electric chair in his testimony which purported to show that he was duped by the blonde Irene. It was she, he said, who directed the robbery which led to the Paul murder, and the subsequent events—a path of crime across the country which ended with their capture in hills of Maricopa County, Arizona.

OFFICERS ATTACKED

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—Two police officers were near death today as the result of attacks, G. P. Moore, a detective, was stabbed in the back by a Filipino when he sought to question white girls at a Filipino dance hall. Patrolman Alfred W. Doyle was found with a crushed skull in a district notorious for its bootleggers.

POLICE HALT GANG

TOLEDO, O., March 31.—Five youthful members of an alleged robbery gang and a merchant who is accused of acting as a "fence" for the lads, are under arrest here today. One of the youths is a nephew of a police officer who raided the merchant's store and recovered part of the loot, which the youths had stolen.

CALL OHIO BANKS

BOTH AWAIT IRELAND'S ELECTIONS

Prevailing opinion in Dublin political circles is that William Cosgrave, left, president of the Irish republic, who has resigned, will be re-elected to his post. Eamon de Valera, former president, right, and head of the opposition party, in the United States on a lecture tour, has been in Chicago awaiting the next meeting of the Dail Eireann, hopeful that he may be returned to office.

BLAME BOOTLEG RINGS FOR DISTRIBUTION OF "SHEEP DIP COCKTAIL"

Government Begins Vigorous Probe Of Poison "Jake"

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Vigorous prosecution of the bootleg rings responsible for distribution of the "sheep dip cocktail," which produced several epidemics of paralysis over the country, was promised today by Prohibition Commissioner James M. Dorian.

Special agents have been sent from Washington by Dorian to cooperate with regular field forces, in an effort to round up the criminal elements responsible for distribution of the fake Jamaica ginger beverages. The department of justice was acting at several points through United States attorneys offices.

Dorian said field forces were active in many districts. The conspiracy was regarded as virtually national in scope. It was expected that early arrests would be made. Analysis of the ginger preparations made by prohibition chemists showed it to contain about 90 per cent alcohol, a small amount of fluid extract of ginger, crude carbolic acid, cresote and other disinfectants.

Some bootleg rings already have been traced to St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Owing to the similarity of samples examined, the dispatch and general character of outbreaks of epidemics in communities which for years have been accustomed to drink Jamaica ginger beverages without particularly serious effect, officials believed that one gigantic conspiracy has been negotiated.

Several large bootleg rings apparently were co-operating. It was pointed out here that there has been some illegal distribution of fluid extract of ginger, used as a medicine, but that this is not so serious an aspect of the situation as the shipments of tremendous quantities of the fake ginger beverage to unsuspecting drinkers in many sections.

PICKREL WILL RUN FOR SECOND PLACE

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The Democratic ticket took definite form today with the announcement that William G. Pickrel, of Dayton, president of the Ohio State Bar Association and veteran political campaigner, would be a candidate for lieutenant governor.

Pickrel, who withdrew from the governorship race last week in favor of George White of Marietta, is expected to be unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

He and White are said to be the candidates who will be backed by the Democratic state committee.

Two other candidates, Stephen Young, Cleveland attorney, and Dan Gallagher, Cleveland newspaperman, are in the gubernatorial race also.

MAIL PILOT IS CATERPILLAR

Leaps From Plane When Ice On Ship Makes It Impossible To Control

WARREN, O., March 31.—Harry A. Seivers, air mail pilot, was qualified today for second-degree membership in the Caterpillar Club as a result of his emergency leap yesterday when a thick coat of ice put his plane out of control at a height of 2,000 feet near here.

Seivers was making his last flight on the air mail route to Pittsburgh for the Clifford Ball Air Line when the accident occurred. He was leaving the air mail line to fly for the Standard Oil Co., of Ohio.

Bad weather, in which his craft collected a heavy layer of ice caused it to go out of control, according to Seivers. Because of the centrifugal force of the plane's spin, the pilot was unable to break away from his craft for a parachute landing until he was about 200 feet from the ground. The plane buried itself about four feet in soft mud. The mail load was not damaged.

Seivers was forced to jump from his plane on one other occasion. He took to his parachute last October near Beaver Falls, Pa., when motor trouble developed in his craft.

SENATE CONSIDERS LIQUOR QUESTION; DISCUSS FOUR BILLS

Transfer Measure To See Action First; Open Lobby Probe

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The troublesome tariff question temporarily shelved, senate wets and dries today prepared to bring the prohibition controversy into the chamber with indications that it would be the dominant topic of debate in both houses for the rest of the session.

Four prohibition proposals are now pending in the senate, where the question has been shunted to the background ever since Senator Borah of Idaho opened his attack upon the administration's enforcement regime three months ago. The proposals include the Norris and Wheeler resolutions for investigation of enforcement, the Blaine resolution for outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment, transfer of the prohibition bureau from the treasury to justice department, and the lobby committee's wet and dry inquiry.

The transfer bill is expected to receive first legislative consideration, with Senator Overman (D) of North Carolina planning subcommittee hearings on it. The Caraway lobby committee will open both the "church lobby" and "prohibition lobby" questions when it hears Rep. George H. Tinkham (R) of Massachusetts and Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist board of temperance and morals, Democratic National Chairman John J. Raskob also will be called.

Senator Blaine's repeal resolution was to furnish the wedge of the wet drive, with advocates citing dry referendums and polls to sustain their contention that the country is changing its complexion. There is little prospect for a vote on the measure.

The sweeping inquiry of enforcement proposed by Senators Norris (R) of Nebraska and Wheeler (D) of Montana may be shelved, with weary senators pressing for early adjournment. Nevertheless, Attorney-General Mitchell will be called before the judiciary committee next Monday.

The dries were to hold the stage in the house, with the judiciary committee planning to close the arid side of its prohibition hearings on Wednesday and take up the Wickersham program bills on Thursday.

REPORT THREE ARE CAPTURED

Missionaries Held By Bandit Gang

SHANGHAI, March 31.—Three more foreign missionaries, including Miss N. E. Gemmell, an American, have fallen into the hands of the feared Communist bandit horde that has been terrorizing Kiangsi Province for many weeks.

Besides Miss Gemmell, who has been in China since 1919, her friends and co-workers, the Reverend and Mrs. R. W. Porteus, of England were captured. They were taken in a raid at Yuanchow. The bandits are reported to have looted the city.

Two other British missionaries, one a woman, and an American, R. H. Glazier, were said to have escaped into the mountains. Yuanchow is a day's journey northwest of Kanchow, where sixteen American Catholic priests were captured by the bandits.

Because of the interference of communications by the bandit armies between here and points in Kiangsi, little if any authentic information is available. The fate of the captives has not been determined.

ISSUES BANK CALL

DIDN'T HURT HIM!

MARTINS FERRY, O., March 31.—Dr. Frank Scott Morrison today observed the fiftieth anniversary of his start in the dental profession and he estimated that he had pulled approximately 30,000 teeth during that long period. All were painless extractions—for Dr. Morrison.

BRIEF DEFENSE FOR INDIAN MAID PLAN OF HER ATTORNEYS

Seek To Prove She Did Not Instigate Woman's Death

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 31.—A brief defense, lacking the drama of the dark-eyed Indian girl defendant taking the stand in a fight to save herself from the electric chair, was indicated today as the trial of Lila Jimerson, accused of the hammer murder of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, was resumed after an adjournment since late Friday when the state rested its case.

Only a dozen defense witnesses were called, and Lila will not be one of them, her attorneys stated. They believe it would be bad legal tactics for Lila to take the stand even though she has indicated a willingness to do so. The lawyers feel she might become confused and give testimony inimical to her defense.

Lila has taken an active interest in the trial. She has been scribbling notes of advice to her attorneys while witnesses have been on the stand, once, when her former sweetheart, Henri Marchand, noted sculptor and vagabond lover, was on the stand telling of his "affair" with her and other women she leaned forward in her chair and hissed "lar."

The defense will seek to prove that Lila was not the instigator of the crime. The state charges that she preyed on the superstitious mind of Nancy Bowen, 66-year-old Indian woman, and contrived to make her believe Mrs. Marchand was a "witch." Mrs. Bowen confessed that she beat the sculptor's wife to death with a hammer which Lila bought for her shortly before the murder.

A handwriting expert will be summoned by the defense to prove that Lila was not the writer of the mysterious "Mrs. Dooley" letters. Mrs. Dooley was a fictitious person, supposedly a Buffalo medium. The letters, written to Mrs. Bowen, told her Mrs. Marchand was the death of her husband, "Sassafras Charlie" Bowen and who was planning to cause other deaths.

"Do away with her," was the tenor of the communications. Lila has denied authorship of the letters.

CONGRESS TOO EXTRAVAGANT IS CLAIM OF APPROPRIATION HEAD

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Declaring that congress "has been spending money like drunken sailors," Representative Will R. Wood (R) of Indiana, chairman of the house appropriation committee, today decreed a vigorous economy rule for the remainder of the present session.

In this plan he said he would cooperate fully with President Hoover who some time ago warned congress of the demands being made upon it.

"We have been spending money like drunken sailors without thought of the end," said Chairman Wood.

FOUR DEAD AND THREE MISSING FOLLOWING COLLISION OF BOATS

Pleasure Seekers Thrown Into Water By Crash

ST. HELENS, Ore., March 31.—The known dead in the crash between the coastwise steamer Davenport and the excursion barge Swan on the Columbia River today stood at four. Three others who were among the merry-makers on the Swan, are reported missing and are believed to have been drowned.

With a band blaring out music, the Swan, in tow of the tug Dix, was returning in the darkness to Vancouver, Wash., after its passengers had participated in the dedication of a new bridge at Longview, Wash.

The excursionists were suddenly thrown in a panic when the Davenport bore down on the Swan and crashed through the planking of the barge, throwing dozens of persons into the river.

Approximately 286 persons were aboard the Swan at the time of the collision, and of these about 100 couples were dancing.

Immediately after the collision the Davenport lowered life boats and began rescuing those struggling in the river waters.

The identified dead are: Mrs. J. E. Hagedorn, Mrs. J. E. Lundy, Mrs. Stanley Stone, and J. E. Larson, all of Vancouver, Wash.

Those missing are: Richard Belland, Jr., son of Captain Belland, owner of the Swan; Sergeant R. G. Anderson, member of the Seventh Infantry Band, Vancouver barracks, and Jack Mitchell, deckhand on the Dix.

DAYTON BANDIT STEALS $7,000

Gallaher Employees Are Robbed In Daylight

DAYTON, O., March 31.—A lone bandit, who held up and robbed two employees of the Gallaher Drug Company, of approximately $7,000 yesterday, was being sought here today. The money was taken while the two employees were enroute to the Winters National City Bank.

The employees, Mrs. Mabel MacChesney, 23, cashier, and Kenneth Allen, 19, clerk, told police that a man accosted them in the heart of the city, covered them with a gun and then forced them down an alley where they were relieved of the money packages.

The bandit then warned them against making any outcry and made them walk straight ahead. When they turned around, the gunman had vanished. The money taken consisted of $6743 in cash and $490 in checks.

SOCIALIST LABOR PARTY PICKS WOMAN

CLEVELAND, March 31.—Mrs. Anna K. Storick, of Elyria, today holds the candidacy of the Socialist labor party for governor. She was named at the state convention of the party here yesterday.

John D. Goerke, Cleveland Heights, the party's candidate for governor in 1928, was named as candidate for lieutenant governor. Other nominations were: Ellis J. Morrow, Youngstown, and James G. Ward, Cleveland, for United States senator; A. S. Pickett, Cincinnati, for secretary of state; Frank Kalcce, Cleveland, for state treasurer; John T. Jurgens, Cleveland, attorney general, and Frank Knotek, state auditor.

PRESIDENT HOOVER MAY LOSE FLEXIBLE TARIFF PROVISION

Democrats Launch Attack On 1922 Tariff Measure

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The probability that President Hoover will be stripped of his provisional tariff-making powers grew today as Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill announced a determination to write a new flexible tariff system into the pending revision.

The present flexible tariff provision, under which three presidents raised and lowered rates without requiring congressional sanction, was an innovation written into the 1922 law to meet post-war emergencies, growing out of swiftly-changing economic conditions here and abroad. The house retained the provision in the pending tariff bill but the senate eliminated it.

While rumor has spread that the provision would be restored in conference, Democratic leaders declared they would fight it to a finish. The opposition was based, not so much on President Hoover's use of the provisional power, but on the ground that it gave legislative powers to the president contrary to the spirit of the constitution. Created as an emergency system, the Democrats will seek to eliminate it entirely.

Senator F. M. Simmons (D) of N. C., the minority tariff leader in the senate announced he would insist upon conferees adopting the senate's new plan for flexible revisions.

Under it, the tariff commission will report emergency changes direct to congress, and each recommendation will be acted upon separately, thus eliminating wholesale revisions. Administration leaders will seek a compromise, undoubtedly, which will give President Hoover a voice at least in the flexible system. One administration plan would give the president power to recommend rate changes to congress and if congress failed to act on his recommendations within sixty days, the additional power of putting them into effect by proclamation. A substitute plan, frequently mentioned, would permit the president to make the recommendations but would retain in congress the sole power of enacting them into law.

ENTERS GLIDER

CLEVELAND, March 31.—Capt. Frank Hawks, who is now attempting a coast-to-coast glider flight, will participate in the glider events to be held in conjunction with the 139 Gordon Bennett international balloon race here this fall, according to a message from the flyer which is in the hands of William Rose, balloon race manager.

SIXTEEN CAUGHT IN MINE BY EXPLOSION SATURDAY EVENING

Many Overcome By Fumes; No Hope Held For Trapped Men

KETTLE ISLAND, Ky., March 31.—Fighting throughout the night with overpowering fumes of carbon monoxide gas, rescue crews trying to reach sixteen miners entombed a mile and a half from the entrance of the Pioneer Coal Company mine here, early this morning, were only fifty feet from their goal.

Rescue operations were started Saturday night immediately after the mine was wrecked by an explosion, which was caused apparently from the ignition of a gas pocket deep in the mine. Progress became slower, however, as they neared the place where the miners are believed to be imprisoned, and during the night they gained only 200 feet.

The gas fumes made frequent shifts changes necessary, and officials of the mine estimated that it would be sometime before noon when rescue crews reached the men imprisoned in the earth. Virtually no hope was held that the ill-fated mining crew would be found alive. The families of the miners, as well as mine officials have given up hope.

A great number of rescue workers have been overcome by the poisonous exhausts of gas from the mine, and nearly twenty had to be sent to Pineville, near here, during the night to recuperate. The explosion wrecked the entrance of the mine.

The sixteen men who were entombed were the only miners in the mine at the time of the explosion. The mine company employs about 400 men. The fact that only a few were in the mine at the time of the explosion was accounted for by the fact that on a half day is worked on Saturday.

DEPUTY HELD AFTER KILLING FARMER

RICHMOND, Ky., March 31.—Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Lane was to be arraigned for preliminary hearing today following the shooting of Ambrose Williams, 35-year-old farmer who was shot to death at his home twelve miles southeast of here during a prohibition raid yesterday.

Lane, together with Sheriff Albert Bogie and Boyd Sandlin, federal agent, went to the Williams farm armed with a purported federal warrant. As they approached the house Williams left by the front door and sped down a slope with Lane in pursuit.

Williams' wife and two children witnessed the chase from the porch which ended when the deputy halted, took aim and fired. When the three officers reached Williams' house, he was dead.

Sandlin and the sheriff searched the house and found small still from which they said they drained a gallon of moonshine.

PAYS PENALTY FOR MURDER IN CHAIR

ROCKWELL, PENITENTIARY, BELLEVILLE, Pa., March 31.—Ralph Russell Sloat, 23, today paid with his life in the electric chair for the murder of John Lowry Scranton taxi-cab driver, who body was found early last year a little creek in the Keyser Valley.

Murdered man looked on Sloat while strapped in the death chair at 10 o'clock this morning. Robert I. Hot, of New York, threw a switch at 7:04 a. m., and Sloat pronounced dead four minutes later.

Sloat was convicted in Lackawanna County court of Lowry murder and was sentenced to the electric chair. A desperate fight the appellate court, through a supreme court and a final effort have Governor John S. Flinn grant a respite ended in failure.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR CHILD'S BODY

WOOSTER, O., March 31.—Search for the body of Mel Horst, missing four-year-old child, was carried on today in the basin of the Orrville Club pond under the direction of R. D. Miller, Canton, former sea diver.

A portion of the pond has been dragged thoroughly but as yet clues have been found that would substantiate the story of Chai Hannah that the boy's body was dumped there by Earl Conrad.

Discovery of a twenty-foot rope in the pond Saturday gave incentive to the search over week end. Little significance attached to the rope by officials, however, Hannah declared that bundle into which the boy's body was tied was wrapped with clothesline and not a hemp rope.

SMALL CHICKENS PERISH IN FLAMES

Lives of 100 small chickens were snuffed out in a fire which followed an explosion of a kerosene lamp in a brooder house at the residence of W. E. Thompson, colored, 30 Taylor St., at 7:47 o'clock Saturday night.

The fact that the wick in the lamp had been turned too high is believed to have caused the explosion, which ignited the interior of the brooder house. Most of the chickens were suffocated by smoke.

Damage was placed by firemen at $35, not covered by insurance. Firemen, responded to the twenty-second alarm of the year, used the booster tank to extinguish the blaze, which partly destroyed the brooder house.

WOMAN AUTOIST CUT

THE OLD HOME TOWN

PRESIDENT MAY ASK HUSTON TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON, March 31.—President Hoover was reliably reported today to be considering making a request to Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National committee, that he resign his post "for the good of the party."

The White House officially maintained silence on the matter, but a confidant of Mr. Hoover's was authorized for the statement that the president is contemplating action.

If the president does ask Huston to resign he will be following the advice of senate leaders who have counseled such a move since the revelations of Huston's lobbying activities and stock market operations were produced by the Caraway committee. Huston has hitherto declined to consider senatorial requests that he relinquish his post, asserting that he would retire only at Mr. Hoover's request.

SELECT CAST FOR SCHOOL OPERETTA

Cast of characters for the two-act operetta, "Aunt Drusilla's Garden," to be presented by pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of Xenia Twp. schools in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium at Xenia Central High School May 22, is being announced by Miss Bernada Huffman, music supervisor of the schools, who is directing the production.

Personnel of the cast: "Aunt Drusilla," Helen McCoy; "Aunt Prudence," Lillie Bobbitt; "Nelda," Marguerite Nash; "Bob," Robert Wolf; "Tad," Wendell Murphy; "Pat," Ralph Randall; "Tiny," Bess Bartlett.

Between acts Enid Hickman, a pupil who studies under Miss Love, Dayton teacher, will play several harp solos.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO OFFER CANTATA

The department of music of Wilberforce University will offer the sacred cantata, "Seven Last Words of Christ," the afternoon of Palm Sunday, in Jones Auditorium, under the direction of Prof. H. D. Daniels, head of the violin department.

The cantata is the composition of Theodore Dubois and written especially to make its rendition appropriate for Palm Sunday. The chorus singing will be by the combined glee clubs; solo parts will be taken by the Misses Helen Miller, Isabel Askew, Claudia Stevenson, and Messrs. C. W. Salsbury, Dallas Saunders, and Gaines Thompson, representing the talent of the music department.

There is a green hill far away,
Without a city wall,
Where the dear Lord was crucified,
Who died to save us all.
We may not know, we cannot tell
What pains he had to bear,
But we believe it was for us
He hung and suffered there.
He died that we might be forgiven,
He died to make us good,
That we might go at last to heaven,
Saved by His precious blood.
There was no other good enough
To pay the price of sin;
He only could unlock the gate
Of heaven, and let us in.
O dearly, dearly has He loved,
And we must love Him, too,
And trust in His redeeming blood,
And try His works to do.

"WHISTLING BRAKEMAN" TO ENTERTAIN GUESTS AT COMMUNITY DINNER HERE

George E. Nearpass, Indianapolis, Ind., Pennsylvania Railroad employee known as the "Whistling Brakeman" and well known radio and vaudeville entertainer, will be on the program to the community banquet to be given here under auspices of Poody Post, American Legion, April 8.

Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs are cooperating in arrangements for the dinner, which is expected to be effective in bringing together various civic interests. The "Rainbow Quartet," another Pennsylvania Railroad product, is also booked to entertain the diners.

Nearpass is employed as regular brakeman on a daily passenger run between Indianapolis and South Bend. He has broadcast from nearly fifty radio stations, including KDKA, Pittsburgh; WLW, Cincinnati; WLS, Chicago; WCCO, Minneapolis; WSB, Atlanta and others. Although known as the "Whistling Brakeman," he has gained most attention through his original monologue, "A Trip on the Punkin Vine Limited," which runs from Logansport to Butler, Ind., a branch line of the Pennsylvania on which he had the run as brakeman for more than ten years. His monologue describes his daily work on the train, loading and unloading pigs, chickens, cows, calves and what-not in and out of the express car and he imitates various noises in the car as he hustles the express. He can whistle three tones at once, soprano, tenor and bass and he strums a banjo-ukulele when he sings.

CROSS GLORIFIED IN SUNDAY SERMON AT UNION SERVICE

Union services under the direction of the Xenia Ministerial Association were held in the First Lutheran Church here Sunday evening when the Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, delivered the sermon, using as his subject, "Glory in the Cross."

The Rev. Adrian G. Lebold, pastor of the Lutheran Church, conducted the regular order of service and was assisted by the Rev. J. P. Lytle and Dr. H. B. McElree, pastors of the First and Second U. P. Churches respectively.

Using as the text for his discourse Galatians 6:14: "But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world," the Rev. Mr. Tilford declared that we need to focus our attention upon the cross where we can all come together on common ground.

The minister narrated in a graphic manner some of the ways that man glorifies the material objects of the world including radios, automobiles, money, and yet finds little or no time to glorify the cross. "Does it take fanaticism or abnormal psychology to get to the cross?" he questioned. Here the speaker hastened to assure his audience with a negative answer. He asserted that many things turn about the cross because it is the focal point in the true religious experience of the Christian.

"Ideals, loved ones, homes, and all the things that are really enduring and worthwhile, center themselves about this tree of Calvary, and have their being from it," said the speaker.

SCOUT TRAINING CLASS WILL PRINT BOOKLET, IS SAID

Plans will be made Monday evening at the Scout Master's Training School for the printing of a booklet that will contain the history and important events of the first Greene County Scout Training class. The regular session of the school will be held in the basement of the Court House at 7:15 p. m.

Scout Adrian G. Lebold, chaplain of Troop 45 will present the plans for this booklet and it is anticipated that each patrol will contribute a part. The name, feature articles and patrol editors, will be selected Monday night. It is planned to have the name of each Scout upon the membership roll with one of his idiosyncrasies.

Another entire page will be devoted in memory of Scoutmaster Robert H. Kingsbury. An exact copy of the resolutions adopted at the last meeting of the Training School will be placed at the bottom of the picture of the late Scout leader.

NEGRO TALENT ON PROGRAM SUNDAY

The Wilberforce University quartette and Miss Claudia Stevenson, soloist, appeared on the annual National Cash Register program of Negro talent Sunday at the National Cash Register Auditorium, Dayton, O.

The quartette sang three groups of secular, spiritual and folk songs; Miss Stevenson rendered a group of classical and spiritual numbers. Miss Marie Young, student in the College of Music of Wittenberg College and daughter of Col. Charles Young, offered a group of classics at the piano.

Sunday's program of Negro talent, is the sixth annual one to be offered by the National Cash Register Company and according to Mr. Kline, personnel director of the company, they are growing in popularity each year.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

DIVORCE QUESTION

The Ontario divorce court question is providing the Canadian parliament with a contentious bone to pick. All of the provinces, with the exception of Ontario and Quebec, are equipped with their own divorce mills. Applicants for divorces in Quebec and Ontario are still compelled to take their cases to parliament, a tedious and costly procedure. A special committee of the senate approves or disapproves of the applications and the commons rubber-stamps the senate's findings. A bill to erect a divorce court in Ontario and thus place it on a footing of equality with the seven provinces whose courts now grant divorces, was defeated in the commons at Ottawa recently by a single vote. The bill has now been revived by a vote of 104 to 87, which indicates that only parliamentary trickery can prevent its eventual adoption. What would happen to it in the senate is another question.

As the Ontario delegation voted 37 to 25 to reinstate the bill on the calendar, a preponderance of popular opinion in favor of a provincial divorce court presumably exists among those directly concerned in the question. The strongest opposition comes from the Catholic members. With the exception of two Protestant members from Montreal, Quebec's delegation voted solidly against reopening the subject. This is in keeping with the traditional policy of the Catholic church of discouraging divorce. The strongest support for the bill is found, strange to say, among the Conservatives and the Progressives, with the Liberal or middle-of-the-road party leaning away from it.

The alarm with which the possibility of easier divorces is regarded by some of the Ontario newspapers exceeds anything longer heard on this side of the line, where one marriage in six now ends in the divorce court. Canada had a total of 785 divorces in 1928, against 69,465 marriages in 1927; or about one divorce to every 90 marriages. We are pushing destiny hard toward freer marital relations. Canadians are inclined to go slower along a road the end of which neither they nor we can yet see. A provincial divorce court would simplify divorce proceedings and render them less costly; but without it, Ontario's divorces more than doubled between 1923 and 1928. The line between making divorce too easy and making it so hard to obtain as virtually to enslave the wife or lead to infidelity is no more easily drawn in Canada than it is in this country.

OUR TEMPER

Temper tantrums are a common type of explosion, by no means limited to children. We are all familiar with those supposed adults who act like children in this respect. Sometimes men in important official positions and women of social prominence betray their infantile tendencies in moments of irritation or stress by an undignified loss of self-control.

Such individual, points out a writer in "The Household Magazine," never had their temper tantrums properly treated when children with the result that they grew into habits. Tantrums may be caused by such seemingly unrelated factors as indigestion, undernourishment, uncomfortable clothes, insufficient sleep, dehydrated air, overexcitement or even by tonsils or defective eyesight. Such conditions are probably much less frequent, however, than those cases in which the child's temper is sorely tried by an excess of irritation.

Proper treatment of temper tantrums consists in removing those factors of irritation and strain which are conducive to emotional instability in the first place; in the second place, ignoring the temper tantrum itself; and in the third place, utilizing positive methods of emotional control and good habit formation.

Apparently the opposition at Westminster is trying to use the coal bill to start a fire under Mr. MacDonald.

The fact that Pasadena votes dry may mean no more than it is located down in the grape belt.

The WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

THROWING THINGS

Child psychology students are studying child behavior, trying to find out why little boys throw things in class rooms and why little girls have tantrums for no reason whatever. The idea is that naughty children can become well-behaved citizens if properly directed. These scientific observers might well extend their studies to grown-ups who also have tantrums and who get all the thrill of throwing things by substituting high and loud profanity. The thin coat of civilization is nowhere more clearly revealed than in an uncontrolled temper.

FORD AND EDUCATION

Some think Henry Ford knows more about cars than education, but he is a practical man and he may know more about making education practical than most college presidents. He wants to establish a chain of school throughout the country where theory and practice will go hand in hand. Educators everywhere do well to watch Antioch college, under the leadership of Morgan, able engineer. Here students study engineering in its various branches part of the time and take jobs in shops and factories the rest of the time. The curriculum calls for theory and practice—half and half. A college course is a handsome luxury. If the student comes out at the end of four years able to do a job in the world, that is luxury plus. Some day somebody will devise a school that both educates and trains for living.

LINKED

At last we are linked together. What are we going to do about it? Radio engineers announce there is no longer any reason why any spot on the earth's surface need be out of communication with the rest of the world. Short wave experiments prove it is possible to send and receive messages between any two points. When the London naval parley opened, the chief of the Japanese delegation spoke by wireless to Tokyo on the other side of the world.

SEEING IT WHOLE

Many of our saddest mistakes come from our negligence in failing to "see things whole." Desiring something very much we center our attention on one side or one angle. We see the fun or the glory of the triumph or the revenge or the pleasure. We don't count the cost. Is it worth the price? What will the final result be? What does it mean beyond glory and triumph and revenge and pleasure or beyond all else? Perhaps to do without something we desire very much means a real sacrifice—but perhaps the sacrifice will pay a greater dividend than the achievement we have hastily set our heart upon.

HEATING WITH GAS

What heat units are given out by 1,000 cubic feet of manufactured gas and 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas?

Such heat is measured in B. T. U's. (British Thermal Units). Such a unit will raise the temperature of one pound of pure water at 39 degrees Fahrenheit one degree.

Gas manufactured from anthracite buckwheat coal will have a value of 138,000 B. T. U's. per 1,000 cubic feet, while a like amount of natural gas from either Pennsylvania or West Virginia wells will produce 1,145,000 B. T. U's. and that from Ohio and Indiana, 1,095,000 B. T. U's.

BOOTLEGGING

What was the origin of the word "bootlegger"? How did it come to be used to indicate a peddler of illicit liquor?

The term originated in Indian territory where liquor selling to the Indians being prohibited, those bent on making a profit in this traffic concealed their wares in the tops of their riding boots.

PASSPORT

I desire to return to Europe to stay five years or longer that I may sell my farm there. Can I get a passport for that period? How much will it cost?

A passport is valid for two years, but may be renewed at the end of that period for two years, at the expiration of which time a new passport issues by the U. S. diplomatic representative in the country you are visiting, would be necessary. The fee required for a passport is $9.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

COMEBACK

NEW YORK CITY, New York — Old Bill Childs, the Bean Baron and Pancake Croesus, deposed last year as head of the $37,000,000 chain of Childs restaurants, is staging a comeback. He's opening a new de luxe Nose Bag on Broadway, said to be the forerunner of a whole string of Gravy Parlors that will be opened in competition with the original Childs chain.

Those who think that Brother Bill's new dump will be executed along the old lines, in operation-room white tile with the grille in the front window, are making a fatal mistake.

The new Salon des Enfants will be the duplicate of an ancient Algerian garden. The exotic trimmings will include mosaic ceilings, stained and worm-holed redwood rafters, timbered windows, cornered seats, stone older looking than the face of any young man on Maxine Lane. There will be old, broken shutters hanging on rusty hinges.

If you want to wash your hands the Algerian Generalissimo in white duck will direct you to a staircase in the far corner. Lowering yourself by means of the staircase, you will find yourself in a mossy garden cave.

Whether Mr. Childs will adhere to the quaint old Algerian custom of placing a big pancake on top with two little ones underneath, time alone will disclose.

Our motto: Parity in pancakes.

Loolee Sherwin, the scrivener, witnessed Ruth Draper's one-woman repertory the other night and then sat down to his typewriter and wallowed around in superlatives.

In the course of his appreciation he mentioned the fact that Ruth Draper is intelligent and from the Draper camp came a remonstrance. Ruth doesn't want to be known as "intelligent." She believes that when you say that about a woman it's a nice way of saying that she wears dowdy hats.

Calling Ruth "intelligent" is like referring to J. M. Barrie as "whimsical."

The Way of the Transgressor Is Hard—to Understand

VOTE SWAPPING ON TARIFF EXPLAINED

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Senators fly in to a terrible rage when accused of swapping votes among themselves for tariff advantages.

One can see that it must be a temptation.

For instance:

Assume that Senator A is from a great vacuum-producing state, wants a high duty on foreign-made vacuum in order to have a virtual monopoly of the American vacuum market, but which produces no auger-holes or doughnut-cores whatever and consequently would prefer to keep them on the free list, to be able to buy auger-holes and doughnut-cores under competitive conditions; whereas Senator B's state's chief product is auger-holes, with no vacuum or doughnut-cores; and Senator C's state's pet industry is doughnut-cores, minus any auger-holes or vacuum.

Obviously a situation like this presents an opportunity for a dicker, supposing Senators A, B and C to be selfish enough in their own respective states' behalf (and sufficiently mindful, maybe, of their own chances of re-election) to avail themselves of it.

Equally obviously, if they do avail themselves of it, they do so with a view to enabling their three states to charge more for vacuum, auger-holes and doughnut-cores—at the 45 states' expense.

Possibly such a policy is highly patriotic from a statewide standpoint, but it is not very patriotic nationally. And, after all, a senator is supposed to be a national patriot as well as a faithful representative of the state that sends him to congress.

At least, that is the theory; and it is so well recognized and generally accepted a theory that, as previously remarked, it makes a senator mighty mad to have anyone say that he has been tariff trading. It would make a representative sore, too, but representatives are so fixated that they do not have to trade (if at all) as openly as senators. The representatives, who frame up all tariff bills in the first place (because the constitution gives them the initial crack at such legislation), do this part of the work in committee, and it is so technical and complicated a job that hardly anyone understands it. Finally, when the completed bills get onto the floor of the house, to be acted on, the bosses vote the entire 435 members in two big blocks—and no individual vote means much.

A senator's vote counts, however. He does not cast it as a member of an organization—like a Republican representative when Col. John Q. Tilson gives the signal, or a Democratic representative when John R.

shirt stud and the glad, effulgent smile? Recall how he used to swing the register around, get a glimpse at your John Hancock, call you by your first name and make pertinent inquiries concerning the Hum Tonz?

He slid into the discard when the last wooden Indian was shunted into the cellar. His method was a bit clumsy, but his psychology was first rate, and it's this psychology that his modern brethren have set about to improve upon and perfect.

They still welcome the coming guest; but in a hostelry like The New Yorker, Tammany Town's biggest inn, you'll find a suggestion and adjustment desk with an assistant manager on duty day and night to interview departing guests, accept their suggestions or complaints and wave them goodbye so that their visit will stick in their memories like love's young dream.

UNIMPORTANT IF TRUE

Gloria Swanson would rather not eat than have to read a menu.

Garner gives the high sign. A senator votes as he, personally, sees fit—and if there is anything unusual about it, it is noticeable.

Illustratively:

Supposing that Senator A, having a perfectly understandable reason for voting for a high tariff on vacuum, does vote for it, so far so good; but if he also votes for a high tariff on auger-holes and doughnut-cores, which one naturally would think he would rather hold down to a minimum, he begins to attract attention; and if, having first voted against the auger-hole and doughnut-imposts, he suddenly flips over and votes in favor of a stiff rate on them—why, then folk are

Salmon Loaf—Soak two medium slices of bread in one-half cup milk and remove crust, add one egg and beat together with a fork, using liquid in the can; juice of Add one one-pound can of salmon, one-half lemon, one teaspoon of salt, pepper to suit your taste. Mix all together well with a fork and place in a loaf or round pan (small size), dot top with butter and bake in a moderate oven for one hour. (This is very good and not as dry as most salmon loaf on account of using liquid from the salmon.)

Date Pie—One cup flour, one-third cup lard, one teaspoon salt, three or four tablespoons very cold water. Sift flour and salt, work in lard with two knives until very fine. Add just enough cold water to hold together. Roll out, handling as little as possible, on a floured board. Bake for fifteen minutes at 450 to 500 degrees, or till light brown.

Date Pie Filling—One package pitted dates, one cup sugar, one-half cup water, two eggs (separated), one fourth cup flour, one tablespoon vinegar, one teaspoon butter. Cook sugar, water and dates together until sugar has dissolved, add beaten egg yolks, flour, salt, vinegar and butter, and cook in a double boiler till very thick. Put in previously baked pie shell.

Feringue—Two egg whites, two tablespoons of sugar. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, add sugar and beat for two minutes. Place on top of date filling, and bake until meringue is a golden brown in a 450-degree oven.

almost sure to accuse him of trading.

It undoubtedly is an unjust charge some of the time.

Senator Charles W. Waterman of Colorado recently pointed out how a law maker's motives may be misconstrued by a critic who does not fully comprehend them.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana had been complaining of evidences, which he said he had discerned, of tariff bargaining—and Senator Waterman took occasion to deny that he had had any share in it. "But," he explained (for it was evident he could see the error the Montana solon had fallen into), "if any senator votes against tariffs on articles produced in Colorado, I'll not vote for his proposals."

Even then (would anyone believe it?) Senator Carter Glass of Virginia insisted he could not see much difference "between that and plain trading."

Of course there really is a lot of difference. A trade is an "exchange" of some sort. The dictionary says so. Senator Waterman simply is revengeful.

Peter's Adventures

By Mrs. Florence Smith Vincent

JUST WHAT NATURE INTENDED

THE brand new Dragon-Fly waited and mourned, and for all Peter knew, gnashed his teeth. The boy felt sorry for him.

"I'm a perfect disgrace to the Dragon-Fly family!" shrielled the latest member to be added to it. "I am almost blind, I am very weak, I cannot fly at all and I am ugly to look at." At this point Peter's particular friend among the Dragon-Flies chuckled.

"You've nothing to worry about, young fellow!" declared he. "You do appear a bit bedraggled now, but take my word for it—in a little while you will be just as good looking a chap as I am, and as strong, too—and that is saying a good deal. As for flying—wait a while and your dips and soars will be quite as fine as those of any member in the family. Give the warm sun a chance! Stand still on that reed. Stretch out your pinions and see what happens. Take care, prove your skill. Move more slowly there! Don't be in such a rush to take head lest your wings hit against the reed stalk. Right at this time a rough touch might put them out of business. Fine! That's right! Now you are quite yourself just exactly the sort of Dragon-Fly nature intended!"

Advice from the older Dragon-Fly encouraged the brand new one. The youngster balanced himself on the reed stalk. The bright sun shone full upon him, the breezes blew about him. Then, before Peter's astonished eyes, a miracle took place. The brand new Dragon-Fly shivered. Slowly, his wings began to unfold, his body stretched out to twice the length it had been until it was slim and straight. His eyes opened wide, began to sparkle. As the boy watched, the dullness that had seemed to surround the insect as a mist, disappeared as if by magic. Before the boy, in place of the drab, dull, fellow who had been on the reed a second before, stood a Dragon-Fly whose wings were so brilliant in their shades of red, blue and green and gold that their great beauty made the boy catch his breath in sheer wonder.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

St. Vitus Dance

Mrs. P.: The cause of St. Vitus Dance (Chorea) is not fully known, but it frequently accompanies acute rheumatism, and acute rheumatism most frequently comes through inflammations of the tonsils. It is more prevalent among girl children than among boys, and the ages most affected are from 5 to 15. A large percentage of the cases occur in the spring, which suggests that perhaps a lack of fruit and vegetables and sunshine through the long winter helps undermine the child's resistance to infections.

It has been noticed that there are anemia and malnutrition present in many of the cases before the attacks come on. Frequently the children are surrounded by neurotic parents and relatives, thus showing in these cases either an inherited weakened nervous tissue, or one so produced by constant mental friction. Over-study and worry over school, shocks and frights are also contributory factors.

The heart is not infrequently affected and in these cases rest in bed is imperative, the length of time depending upon the severity. It is also necessary in the very acute cases. Irritating relatives must be excluded, and a placid nurse must be in attendance. It is usually best to have such patients treated in a hospital.

Great attention has to be paid to a full, well-balanced, nourishing diet, in all cases, for the movements of chorea require an extra amount of energy which must be supplied by the food. Extra vitamins should be taken: cod liver oil, for A and D; vitavose, for vitamin B; the fruits and vegetables for more of these and Vitamin C.

If the case isn't acute, the child should be out of doors a large part of the time. Sleep, long hours of sleep, and a nap in the daytime, always in the fresh air, are also required.

Mrs. G.: The elaborate contraption that is claimed to diagnose vibrations carried to another person's abdomen through bits of hair and even by handwriting and such and cure by electric vibrations, has been fully discredited by scientific men and societies. Even the inventor died of pneumonia, a disease which the machine is supposed to always cure. It is used only by the type of so-called doctors you have visited, so I would put no faith in the diagnosis whatever. Any help you get from it will come from suggestion only.

Mrs. T.: The X-ray and radium are used both for the chief treatment of tumors and for after treatment after surgery has been performed, and they are very successful. Tumors that are treated at the very beginning (best in the pre-cancerous stage) naturally have more successful results.

If you want more information about cancer, I suggest you write to the American Society for the Control of Cancer, New York committee, 34 East 75th street, New York City.

Miss B.: We have an article on Superfluous Hair which may be of some help to you. See column rules for obtaining this.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column in their turn. Requests for articles or pamphlets on hand must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope plus the following:—mail charge to help cover cost of printing and handling for each article wanted two cents in coin; for each pamphlet ten cents in coin. The pamphlets are Reducing and Gaining, Hygiene of Women, Kidney and Bladder Disorders. Address Dr. Peters in care of this paper. Write legibly and not over 200 words.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Virginia Lee: I am a married woman. My husband fell in love with another girl, told me that he could not care for me and has left me."

"We have a little boy 12 years of age. I dearly love my husband. What would you do if you were I, try to win him back or let him go? Please answer soon. I am so lonesome. I don't know what to do."

"LONELY BROWN EYES." Just what WOULD one do, I wonder, under those circumstances? It would be interesting to have a conference of deserted wives and listen to them tell just how they took the shock and loss and what their reactions have been.

Not much use trying to win him back, I suppose. A man who is infatuated with another woman is impervious to pleadings, especially to those of a wife he has wronged. He must just gradually wake up to the fact that he has made a mistake—if he has.

You should compel him to support you and the boy, Lonely Brown Eyes, but for your lonely feelings, my poor dear, I am afraid there is little he can try. Such things must just be endured. I have no cure-all for the hurt that comes from bruised and lacerated love. The only remedies I can suggest are work and the companionship of your child. You can devote your life to caring for him and maybe your husband will soon tire of his inamorata and want to come back—they often do. I wonder if you would welcome him with open arms if he did?

A BROWN-EYED SWEETHEART: When a young man really loves a girl, my dear, he works and works hard, if he never did in his life before, and if he never will again. And the reason is he wants to give her things and take her places. He may turn out to be a parsimonious husband, but while he is courting he "shows her a good time." So I very much doubt if the boy friend is in love with you at all, whatever he says to the contrary.

At any rate, he loves himself better than he does you. It is possible, of course, that it is hard for him to get a job right now, or has been for the past few months, but nothing excuses him from hustling after one right now and getting you that ring and thing you want. If he doesn't bustle himself right now, I'd get me another sweetheart pronto.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am writing you this letter as I want your advice on the ground of leaving home. I am mistreated at home, am not allowed to go any place without my sister along. When I ask my sister to go with me she won't. She goes to church and I stay at home. I do most of the work. Please advise me what to do. I will be 18 in November. PAT."

I'd wait until I was 18 at least. Then, if you still think you're mistreated, go out and try things for yourself. You may be glad enough to go back home, and the "mistreatment" may not seem much after all, and it may be that you'll be happier away. Try to think of the things your mother does for you and has been doing all your life instead of thinking she is cruel.

MARY Y.: Why don't you go to your own county building to that of the town you mention and ask them the questions you ask me? Write them, if necessary. It would be much more satisfactory. Sorry I can't supply the information.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Beautiful Hair, Skin Aid Beauty

A woman with beautiful hair and beautiful skin is to a great extent a beautiful woman. And when Elizabeth opened her eyes, she just looked—

"I never believed I could look like that," she told me.

"You can look much better," I answered her. "This is just one simple little treatment. You cannot expect it to undo in less than an hour what 10 years of carelessness and neglect have done to your face. If you want to really go about the business of being beautiful you must continue with the work you have started here this morning."

"But I haven't the time," she began. "Of course you have," I told her, "you have time to eat, to exercise, to be beautiful, and you have time to be beautiful, too! There is no need of your going to a beauty salon, you can do it yourself in your own home, but you must do it—that is the principle thing."

"Your skin is dry, very fair, very quick to succumb to lines and wrinkles. At night, just ten minutes before you go to bed, cleanse your face—when you put on your cleansing cream don't just dip into the jar and plaster it all over your face. Take a little bit on the tips of your fingers, spread it lightly and evenly, up on the face, down on the neck. Work it in around your nose, over your eyelids, very, very gently, back over the contour lines. Leave it no for a few moments, then, either with tissues or a soft, clean piece of linen, wipe it all away.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

An All-American college basketball team appears in the May number of the College Humor.

The team was selected by Les Gage and it is interesting to note that the Charlie Murphy, of Loyola, Chicago, is rated as the best center in the country while his namesake and strongest rival, the Charlie "Stretch" Murphy of Purdue, is placed on the second team.

There were frequent "Battles of the Stretches" during the recent season when the two towering centers opposed each other and on each occasion the Loyola Murphy outplayed the Purdue Murphy.

In choosing first, second and third All-American basketball teams, Les Gage declares that "the past basketball season was just one big scoring spree."

"There were many great offensive machines, featuring a score of brilliant shooters. But there was a definite scarcity of stellar defensive players—especially in contrast to the large number of clever forwards and centers."

"This honor roll is not the result of my personal views alone, but is based to a considerable degree upon advice tendered by prominent coaches in the countless athletic conferences throughout the country."

FIRST TEAM

Hyatt F. Pittsburgh
F. Ward F. Montana State
Murphy G. Loyola, Chicago
Wooden G. Purdue
Johnson G. N. C. State

SECOND TEAM

Schoonover F. Arkansas
Krieger F. Providence
Murphy C. Purdue
Chmielewski G. Wisconsin
Magner G. Pennsylvania

THIRD TEAM

Kinsbrunner F. St. John, Br'kin
Hildebrand F. Butler
MacCracken G. Indiana
Grayson G. Oregon State
McGinnis G. Kentucky

The Xenia Reserves baseball team will probably be re-organized and again represent this city on the diamond this season. It is understood that Jesse Chambliss hopes to inaugurate the local season at Washington Park Easter Sunday, weather permitting.

As for other semi-pro teams in Greene County, the Jamestown Independents and Bowersville Bayliffs will also probably have teams this summer, playing Sunday ball. The Independents definitely will put a team in the field, according to Leroy Hollingsworth, playing at Leach Park in that village, and opening sometime in April.

Carlton Lunsford, son of the Rev. Joel Rufus Lunsford, pastor of First Baptist Church, this city, and a student at the University of Cincinnati, is a promising pitcher but will not report to school in time to be of any value to the Bearcat varsity softball squad this spring. Carlton is becoming interested in football and will probably play at least part of the season as a member of the Downtown Country Club nine, city softball champs in 1927 and 1929. If he hits as well as expected the team batting will be considerably strengthened.

Carlton, as we remember, turned out for football at Cincinnati last year or the year before, and had the misfortune to be injured in the first practice session, putting him on the shelf for the season.

Incidentally, Cincinnati's varsity diamond squad this spring has been cut to thirty players, including nine pitchers, five catchers, ten infielders and six outfielders. Due to unfavorable weather strenuous workouts have been delayed although the Bearcats open their schedule with Michigan State April 9.

Cincinnati, which gave Ethan Allen to the Cincinnati Reds, has always been noted for its strong baseball teams.

Flying Mite of the Women's Sports World

Only five feet in height is tiny Kay Griffiths, of the Canadian Ladies A. C. of Toronto, but her size gives no indication of her speed. The "flying mite" beat the previously undefeated Stella Walsh, of Cleveland, in the 75-yard sprint at Buffalo. The winning time was 8.4-5 seconds. Kay is 18 years of age and weighs only 106 pounds.

WORLD'S FASTEST HUMANS MEET

The world's two fastest humans, lightning-like Stella Walsh, Cleveland record-breaking girl sprinter, and George Simpson, Ohio State university mark-smashing flash, meet during an indoor athletic carnival in Cleveland.

Who's Who and Timely Views

GAIN REPORTED IN ALIEN POPULATION

By HARRY E. HULL
Commissioner General of Immigration

(Harry Edward Hull was born at Belvidere, N. Y., March 12, 1864. After leaving high school, he entered the grain business. He became president of a telephone company at Williamsburg, Ia. After serving as mayor of that city for two years, he was named postmaster in 1907 and held that office until 1914. He was elected to congress in 1915 from the second Iowa district and held office until 1925. Since then he has been commissioner general of immigration, department of labor. He is a Republican.)

In December last, 29,319 aliens, comprising 17,842 immigrants and 11,477 non-immigrants, were admitted to the United States. The exodus of aliens this month totaled 23,426, of which number 18,746 were non-immigrants going abroad for a short stay or leaving after a visit in this country, the remaining 4,680 being immigrants who left for permanent residence outside the United States.

During the six months from July to December, 1929, a total of 252,590 aliens, including 136,970 immigrants and 115,620 non-immigrants, were admitted and 148,540 (28,647 emigrants and 119,893 non-emigrants) aliens departed, resulting in an increase of 104,050 in the alien population of this country. In the same period a year ago when 258,190 aliens were admitted and 149,423 departed, the net increase was 108,767.

Over three-fourths of the 252,590 aliens admitted during the last six months came in by water, 194,633, or 77.1 per cent, entering the country at our seaports, while 47,255, came in over the northern land border and 10,702 via the southern land border. The four largest groups admitted under the immigration act of 1924 included 71,096 immigrants charged to the quota, 62,593 residents of the United States returning from a visit abroad, 42,881 natives of non-quota countries, principally Canada and Mexico, and 35,814 visitors for business or pleasure.

Other principal classes under the act were 19,813 husbands, wives and unmarried children of American citizens, and 13,510 transients passing through the country on their way elsewhere. Compared with the same period a year ago, all of these principal classes show an increase, except the quota immigrants and the natives of non-quota countries. The decrease of the latter class was mainly due to the decline in immigration from Mexico.

Two-fifths of the 136,970 immigrant aliens entering the country during the six months from July to December last, came from countries in the western hemisphere, Canada and Mexico contributing the major portion as usual.

Europe sent us 78,099 immigrants in the same period, Great Britain now leading the list with 15,511, followed by Germany and Italy.

CENSUS TAKING IN COUNTY IS DELAYED

Because appointment of census enumerators for Greene County is still incomplete, it is considered improbable that the 1930 census of Xenia and the county will be started officially Tuesday, the day scheduled.

W. H. Story, Springfield, census supervisor for the sixteenth district, which includes Greene County, announced Monday that it is likely the house-to-house canvass may begin later in the week or possibly the early part of next week.

Taking of the census in the business section of the city has already begun.

In Governor Race

At least four men will oppose Miss Gladys Pyle, above, at the Republican gubernatorial primaries in South Dakota. Miss Pyle, whose home is in Huron, is secretary of state and the first woman elected to the state legislature.

On grounds of willful absence from home for more than three years, Earle Darling has been granted a divorce from Ruth Darling in Common Pleas Court. They were married at Kent, Conn., June 24, 1924 and have no living children.

AGREEMENT REACHED
Suit of Laura Kinsley against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co., and others in Common Pleas Court has been settled by an agreement, the terms of which are as follows: The railroad shall leave open for use as a passageway for ingress and egress to and from their respective properties by the plaintiff and other abutting property owners, and the defendant shall have the right to use the strip of land involved in common as a driveway. It is directed that the plaintiff and other property owners shall acquire no other rights by reason of location of sidewalks or encroachment of any buildings and if they cease to use the land as a driveway, it will revert to the railroad unconditionally.

NAMED ADMINISTRATOR
Dore Jordan has been appointed administrator of the estate of Thomas Jordan, late of Xenia, and has filed bond of $500 in Probate Court.

HEARING SET
Application seeking to admit to probate the last will of Michael J. Dugan, late of Xenia, has been fixed for a hearing at 10 a. m. April 2 in Probate Court.

ESTATE VALUED
Gross value of the estate of Rose Chambers, deceased, is placed at $1,009.50 in an estimate on file in Probate Court. The estate has no net value because debts and the cost of administration amount to $1,133.21. The court approved sale of personal property belonging to the estate.

WILL PROBATED
The last will of R. H. Kingsbury, late of Xenia, has been admitted to probate, according to an entry filed in Probate Court. Eleanor M. Kingsbury, the widow, has elected to take under the will. No estimate of the value of the estate is given.

EXPECT 200 WILL ENTER FIELD MEET

Two hundred entrants for the annual intra-mural track and field meet of Wilberforce University to be held Saturday afternoon, April 12, have been filed with Physical Director Corrothers to date, comprising competition in ten events. Three prizes will be awarded by the department of physical education to the winning team. The entrants include a girls' relay team and a ten year old boys' team from the practice department.

Competition in each event will be spirited, especially between the sophomore and junior teams as they are in a tie for the Corrothers Season Intra-mural trophy; the sophomores having won the football intra-mural championship and the juniors the basketball championship.

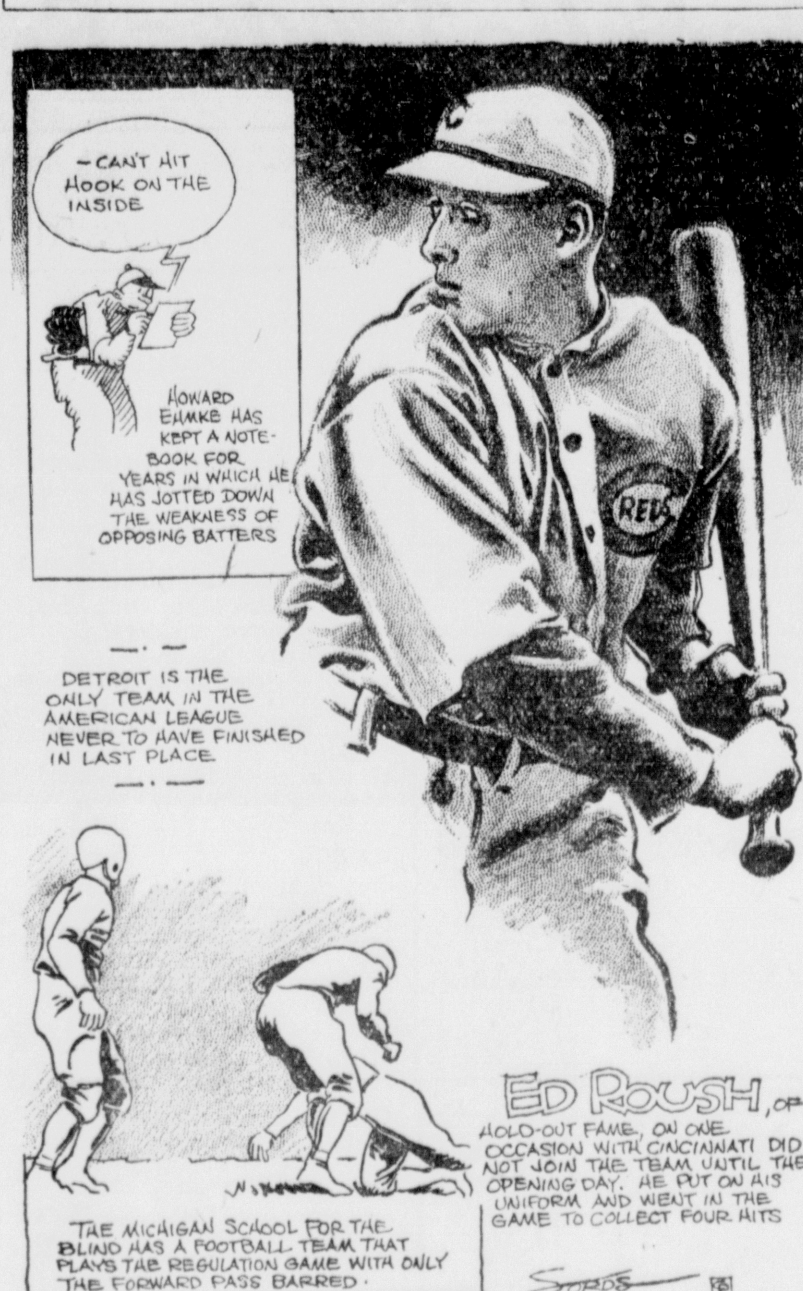

FRATERNITY GAMES ON AT WILBERFORCE

In the opening game of the inter-fraternity basketball series at Wilberforce University, the Omegas Psi Phi swamped the Kappa Alpha Psi quintet Friday evening in Beacon Gym 44-8.

Mendenhall was high point man for the Omegas, registering fourteen points; Martin was high man for the Kappas, making four markers.

In the preliminary game the Phi Beta Sigma team faces a strong Alpha Phi Alpha aggregation. In the preliminary the Lambda team, Omega pledges meets the Sphinx quintet, Alpha pledges.

SPORT SIDELIGHTS

ANTIOCH BASEBALL TEAM HAS ELEVEN GAMES ALREADY BOOKED

Eleven games, two of which are tentative, have been booked this spring for the Antioch College Division "A" and "B" baseball teams, according to an announcement by Coach Merrill Dawson.

The Division "B" nine inaugurates the schedule, opening with the University of Dayton Flyers at Dayton April 5.

A game with Urbana Junior College at Yellow Springs May 3 and a return contest with Capital University at Columbus June 18 are still in the tentative stage.

Five of the eleven games will be played by Antioch's Division "A" outfit, beginning May 3 and winding up May 17.

Eight letter men are available for the Division "B" team, but there is a dearth of pitchers. Prospects in Division "A" are uncertain.

Veteran players available for the Division "B" team include Toomire and Coskery, catchers; Edmonds, first baseman; Stone, second base; Teegarden, shortstop; Confer, third base; Coppock, left fielder, and Meyer, right fielder.

Because of the lack of pitching talent, it is considered probable that Toomire will be in the box most of the time.

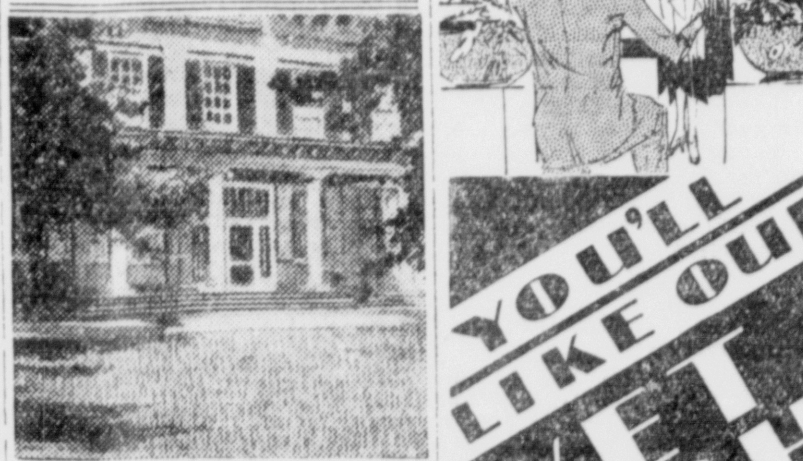

The baseball schedule follows:

April 15—University of Dayton away.

TWO PARKED CARS DAMAGED BY AUTO

Everett Thoroman, W. Main St., escaped injury when in passing another machine he swung his own auto out too far to the left and crashed into a Ford sedan owned by Miss Virginia M. Fletcher and parked in front of her residence at 207 Cincinnati Ave., at 6:15 o'clock Sunday night. The force of the impact hurled the car against another sedan owned by Emerson Emeley, Lebanon, O., also parked in front of the Fletcher residence. Both parked cars were badly damaged.

Thoroman, who was driving south, admitted to police, who investigated, that he was entirely at fault and agreed to make restitution for damage caused. It was announced.

The Theater

The proudest boast of the late A. L. "Abe" Erlanger, millionaire theater owner and producer, was that he once knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons, a close friend related recently. The friend is Joseph Cawthorn, American countries where Spanish stage comedian, who was the base language. Renee Torrance, sister of Raquel Torres, is the leading woman for the pictures. While applying for a life insurance policy recently, Renee was asked if she had ever been in an accident, to which she replied the negative.

"Then what is this scar on your leg?", the examiner asked.

"A dog bit me when I was a little girl," said Renee.

"Wasn't that an accident?"

"Oh, no," she said quickly. "That Mexican hound meant it."

Like his brother Wally, Noah Beery is deserting the role of villain for that of comedian. He plays a comic role in "Under a Texas Moon", Warner Bros. technicolor talkie.

Cawthorn gives Erlanger much of the credit for organizing the American stage to its present state. "The theater was in a chaotic condition and abuses were rife. There was confusion in contracts, in the handling of companies, in transfers and a hundred other things. Erlanger put the theater on a commercial basis. He was an eminently fair man and could easily have taken advantage of his position as czar of the theatrical world. Instead, he was most liberal and players knew him as a man whose word was his bond."

There were 750 people in one of Erlanger's shows, Cawthorn says. This was "Beauty and the Beast," present in 1901. Among the showman's other early successes were "Mother Goose," "Little Nemo," "Tammany Hall" and "Humpty Dumpty."

John J. Murphy, mayor of Somerville, Mass., a suburb of Boston, has been made vice-president of Pan-American Pictures and his daughter, Barbara Tiffany Murphy, is in Hollywood to represent her father and to play juvenile roles in the studio's production.

Pan-American is the organization formed to make talkies for South

SECURITY PROGRAM BETWEEN BRITAIN, FRANCE, DEFEATED

mitments even for the sake of a disarmament treaty. Britain said today he had never asked Britain to commit herself further in a military sense, but had only asked for a definition of Britain's present military obligations toward France.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The London naval conference, which set out with such high hopes and lofty ambitions ten weeks ago, probably will "make or break" this week, according to Washington's opinion. And the belief is preponderant here that it will "break."

Great Britain's publicly announced resolve to undertake no further military commitments to guarantee France's security is expected here to prove the last straw to the sagging back of the conference.

With this firm refusal put on record, all conjecture concerning American participation in a consultative pact at London becomes idle, for the whole idea, so far as the United States is concerned, was predicated upon Britain's ability to come to terms with France on the security issue.

It can be stated authoritatively that the administration views the collapse of the consultative pact project with relief.

Even the most ardent supporters of the conference have never been more than lukewarm towards Secretary of State Stimson's entering any kind of a political pact at London, however, innocuous, and that lukewarmness has been steadily chilling under the frosty reaction of powerful senate leaders in both parties.

Whether it is still possible to salvage a five-power treaty out of the wreck of the conference by some miraculous stroke remains to be seen. The odds are all against it. And administration officials do not believe it likely. The one chance of something of this sort apparently lies in a radical about-face on the part of France on the security issue—and no one here anticipates any such miracle.

There remains then, as Washington views it, the chance of negotiating a two-power treaty with France and Italy left out.

While a three-power treaty is regarded in some quarters as "better than nothing at all," it is apparent there is little relish for it in high administration quarters.

G. F. STUTSMAN SR. DIES SUDDENLY AT FARM HOME SUNDAY

George Ferdinand Stutsman, Sr., 71, well known farmer, died suddenly at his residence three miles north of Bellbrook at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night. He had been in ill health for four years with acute dilatation of the heart but his condition was not considered critical before he was stricken suddenly and he had shown considerable improvement recently.

Mr. Stutsman was born near Beavertown December 31, 1858 but had lived in the vicinity of Bellbrook, where he was widely known, for forty-one years with the exception of a short period spent on a farm in Warren County. He was married to Anna Gertrude Higgins December 12, 1888, and she survives with two sons, George F. Jr., and Raymond, at home; one brother, Emmert, near Dayton, and one grandchild, Lorraine. Three children are dead. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias Lodge at Bellbrook.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with burial at Beavertown.

COP REMEMBERS OLD WARRANT

The arm of the law may be long but the memory of Patrolman George Robinson is longer.

For the last seven months, since last September to be exact, police had held a warrant for the arrest of Wilbur Baker, colored, 509 E. Main St., wanted by Wapakoneta, O., authorities on a charge of burglary.

Saturday night Patrolman Robinson recognized Baker on the street, remembered the old warrant and placed him under arrest. He was returned to Wapakoneta Sunday by Harvey Russell, sheriff of Auglaize County.

Baker and a companion are alleged to have broken into a slaughter house owned by A. W. Boecker and stolen a side of beef and a rifle.

Sheriff Russell considered the arrest of Baker most opportune because the man's alleged confederate in the burglary is scheduled to go on trial Tuesday.

FRANCIS JENKINS DIES ON SATURDAY FROM LONG ILLNESS

Francis W. Jenkins, 76, died at his home, 410 Washington St., at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. He had been in failing health for two years and in a serious condition for the last four weeks with heart trouble and complications.

Mr. Jenkins was born in New Burlington December 7, 1853 and had been a resident of Xenia for thirty years. He was a shoemaker by trade but was formerly employed for five years as night watchman at the O. S. and S. O. Home and held a commission as state policeman at the institution.

Mr. Jenkins was married April 5, 1899 to Miss Millie Shenfield who survives him with the following sons: Francis, David and Donald, at home, and Paul, London, O. One grandchild also survives.

For fifty-two years Mr. Jenkins was a member of the New Burlington Masonic Lodge and last year was awarded a medal in recognition of his more than fifty years association with the lodge. He was also a member of the Friends Church.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with interment in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call any time after 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

DEBATERS TO MEET

An open forum debate on disarmament between debating teams of Wilberforce University and Northwestern University, Evansston, Ill., will be held in Jones Auditorium at Wilberforce April 7. The question to be debated is: "Resolved That the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, except as to forces necessary for police purposes." Wilberforce and Howard University, Washington, D. C., will meet in a debate April 1.

"How Often Shall
I Wash My Hair?"

"Once a month", Ogilvie Sisters say is usually often enough to shampoo your hair. If your hair is very oily or too dry, frequent shampooing simply aggravates this condition. Ogilvie Sisters advise daily brushing too, to cleanse the hair—and application of their cleansing stimulating tonics. Ogilvie Sisters have a corrective treatment for every need of hair and scalp. Their shampoos, brushes, tonics and pomades are on sale at our Toilet Goods Department.

MOOSE WILL ELECT

Election of officers will feature the annual meeting of Xenia Lodge, No. 1629, Loyal Order of Moose, Wednesday night, April 2 at 7:30 o'clock. The proposition of the next district meeting of the lodge will also be discussed. A full attendance at the meeting is urged.

EAST END NEWS

MRS. JAMES HARRIS
Tel. Correspondent 91-R

Mr. Wright Mason, 53, passed away at his home near Wilberforce Sunday at 12:30. He had been in usual health and had returned from Xenia just a short time before.

Heart failure was the cause of death. He had formerly lived in the Bryson neighborhood. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lucy Mason, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Mason, one brother and two children by a former marriage, all of Decatur, Ill., and one brother and sister of Chicago, Ill. Brief funeral services will be held at the Johnson Funeral Home, the time to be announced later. The remains will be taken to Decatur for interment. For any information call the J. C. Johnson Funeral Home after 3:30 Monday.

The Effie Carter W. C. T. U. will hold its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss L. J. Payne, E. Market St.

Mrs. Bertha Boothe and daughter Zelda of Williams Ave., were visitors in Dayton Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Matthews, senior student in the Theological Department at Wilberforce University, preached a strong sermon at the Zion Baptist Church Sunday morning.

Master Thomas Strawther of Urbana is spending his vacation with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Waldon, Jamestown Pike.

Mrs. Nannie Bugler, E. Main St., who spent the winter in El Paso, Texas, has returned home.

Mr. Matthew Benton, E. Market St., is very ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nannie Scott.

The Edith Randolph Prayer Circle will hold its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Belle Tibbs, E. Main St.

Mr. S. E. Mills of Yellow Springs, was the guest Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bledsaw, E. Market St.

Mr. C. L. Edwards, Jasper Ave., will leave Tuesday for San Diego, Calif., where he has secured a position as traveling salesman for the W. H. Wright Manufacturing Co.

All members of Damon Lodge No. 29, K. of P., are urged to meet Tuesday evening in regular session. The business is very important.

Dollar's Worth

TO EVERY ONE who is genuinely interested in making money buy as much as it possibly can, all the time, not merely once in a while, the advertisements in this newspaper offer expert and invaluable aid.

The advertisements tell you of products of undisputed value. They assure you of getting merchandise that has already brought satisfaction to other buyers. The counsel that they give is economically sound. No manufacturer or merchant can continue to advertise unless what he has to tell you is to your advantage.

When you buy advertised goods, you put your money into rugs or radios that have a reputation of being worth every penny you invest in them. The advertisements you read are certificates of value that you can instantly accept.
